

HONORS EXPRESS

Monthly updates of developments within the Honors community

Notes from Our Director

Sawubona, Honors! This greeting from the Zulu language literally means “I see you.” I have seen you this past month falling upwards into leadership at the first-year retreat; surrounding and sending off with care a member of the Honors community whose path is leading her away from La Crosse; crowdsourcing resistance to cultured despair in our Deep Fried-ays discussions and in heartfelt sympathy cards for our neighbors displaced by a fire; being inspired by (and inspiring) our guest, Tara Westover; and, in ways too numerous to list in this tiny box. The response to Sawubona – to being seen – is Ngikhona, “I am here.” Thank you for being here and for all the ways in which you see each other into being and hear each other into speech.

Peace, Matthew Bersagel Braley

What takes up too much of your time? When I am not doing school work, I spend a lot of time watching pointless (and sometimes educational) videos on YouTube.

What would be your ideal way to spend the weekend? I would go to the farmers market Friday night, a coffee shop Saturday morning (to do homework if I was feeling ambitious) or volunteer with Service Saturdays, and probably go to a movie, play, or musical with friends Saturday night. Sunday I would do nothing all day, if by some miracle I had finished all of my homework.
