What Our Students Say

“I was in management for 15 years prior to taking my current role as administrative director. At the same time I accepted the role, I began the MBA program. I found I was able to implement what I learned at Viterbo in real life—the strategic planning, leadership, communication, the teamwork. Collaboration with my cohort helped me look deeply through a different set of eyes. I have grown in more ways than I ever imagined and have been encouraged to tap into skills that maybe I hadn’t been confident in. I could not have asked for a better experience.”

—Roxanne Potts, RN, BSN, MBA (December 2015)

Administrative Director, General Surgery, Vascular Institute, and Preadmissions

“When I am in a meeting, whether we are talking about business, strategy, or planning, I now stand up with confidence, knowing what I’m talking about...and people take notice of that. It is very empowering and satisfying, too. The program really helped me with a lot of problem solving that I use in day-to-day work. It develops your confidence and skills to be a leader making ethical decisions for the organization. I didn’t choose to do my MBA to find new career opportunities, but now I see an amazing amount of opportunities I was not even aware of that have come my way because of being a physician with an MBA.”

—Venkat Iyer, M.D., MBA (May 2015)

Nephrologist, Chair of the Division of Community Nephrology

“When I started Viterbo’s MBA program I was interested in complementing my nursing background with core business skills. These skills have become invaluable as I have learned how to think strategically as well as tailor my business knowledge to the healthcare arena. Additionally, Viterbo’s curriculum focuses on servant leadership principles that stress the importance of integrity as a leader. Since obtaining my MBA from this distinguished program I have been fortunate to receive different promotions in healthcare leadership roles. I consistently go back to the ethical principles Viterbo endorses through their MBA program. If you are looking to accelerate your career, become highly marketable with a diversified skillset, and really maximize your leadership capabilities, Viterbo’s MBA program is exactly what you are looking for.”

—Chet Doering, RN, BSN, MBA (December 2012)
